Platina is a unique precious metal alloy derived from the combination of gold, silver, platinum and palladium. The resultant product exhibits qualities far superior to the mere sum of its individual parts.

Exclusive, strong, durable and dependable, while still malleable, this precious alloy compares uniquely to the service we provide to our clients. Our experienced specialists create tailor-made solutions for all short-term insurance needs by combining industry experience, business insight, attention to detail and unrelenting self-imposed service quality.

Whether you are an established multi-regional business, a start-up, a home enterprise, a young person starting out on your journey or an experienced scholar of life – we will find the solution that will provide you with the best risk coverage as determined by your individual needs and exposures.
