Manager Comment

Data shows that inflation in the US dropped below 3% in July, getting closer to their 2% target. The unemployment rate in the US rose according to July data. The UK economy grew in the first and second half of 2024 after declining in the third and fourth quarter of 2023. The Bank of England (BoE) cut rates in August for the first time post the Covid pandemic. The Reserve Bank of New Zealand (RBNZ) also cut rates for the first month in over 4 years. Locally, SA's real interest rate reached the highest level in 18 years, with considerations for the South African Reserve Bank (SARB) to lower rates for the month.

Global equities started the month in negative territory, but then bounced back strongly with the MSCI World Index delivering a positive return at 2.64% month-on-month (m/m) in dollar terms. Weak US jobs data was the driver for risk aversion early in August, with the US unemployment rate unexpectedly jumping to 4.3%, leaving it 0.5% higher over three months. Another source of risk-aversion was from the Japanese central bank, which unexpectedly hiked rates and announced plans to slow quantitative easing. Emerging markets (EMs) also posted positive gains the month, with the MSCI EM Index ending at 1.65% in dollars. Global bonds and global property continued with gains from the previous month and gained 2.37% m/m and 6.31% m/m respectively in August (in dollars). The FTSE Index and the S&P 500 were also both in positive territory at 0.45% m/m in pounds and 2.43% in dollars. The Dow Jones ended the month positively at 2.03% in dollars, the Euro Stoxx 50 was positive at 1.80% m/m, and the Nikkei was negative at -1.09% m/m.

SA equities continued their strong post-election run, with the FTSE/JSE All Share Index posting gains of a 1.38% m/m in rand terms. Industrials gained 2.98% for the month, with Resources ending negatively at -10.14% m/m. Property and Financials were both positive at 8.25% m/m, and 5.39% m/m respectively. Cash was also in positive territory for the month at 0.69%. The bond market was positive for the month, as the FTSE/JSE All Bond Index gained 2.38% in rand. Bonds of 1-3 years gained 0.99% m/m, bonds of 3-7 years gained 1.72% m/m, bonds of 7-12 years gained 2.47% m/m, and bonds of 12 years and above gained 3.14% m/m. The rand strengthened against the US dollar, euro, pound at 2.46% m/m, 0.16% m/m and 0.13% m/m, but weakened against the Japanese yen at -3.23% m/m.
